

2012 BlueSky Networking Event: The Social Brain

In addition to getting a wonderful opportunity to network with other English-speaking professionals, you'll also get a chance to learn:

Why you will die without networking and how the social brain influences your business success.

Andy Habermacher, brain leader, uses his love of neuroscience to give powerful and inspirational insights into human behaviour and the workings of business. His British humour combined with his Swiss upbringing give him a warm and open manner possessing the stage with confidence and taking you on a journey through the brain and human decision making. Andy is all about brains in business.
